Between Animals.

Smoking a clay pipe; the circus actor sat in the winter training quarters. Under his supervision a thin boy was learning to ride erect on a quiet horse with a broad, flat hack.

"In some towns they won't left us show," said the man, "unless we have no camels with us. Camels are a serious drawback to shows. Horses are so much afraid of them that lots of towns won't let a camel enter their gates.

"A horse won't go near a piece of ground a camel has stood on. The very smell of a camel in the air will make a horse tremble and sweat. And this fear isn't only found occasionally in a horse here and there. It is found in every horse all over the world. Queer, isn't it? I often wonder why itis. Cattle hate dogs sin the same way, and cats hate dogs so, too. Here, though, we can account for the hatred. Dogs in primitive times fed on calves, no doubt, and even to-day, here and there, they kill and feed on kittens.

"Horses love dogs. I'm sure I don't know why. Dogs fear no animals but pumas and leopards. You can take a dog up to a lion's or a tiger's cage, and he will show no fear; but take him to the cage of a puma or a leopard, and he will tremble and mean, and slink away out of sight.

"All very puzzling, isn't it?"

Little Workers Possess Great Br Power and Have a Language of Their Own.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson believes that Alaska is destined to be a great dairy country. "There are on the southern coart," he says, "fron. Cook Inlet to Unalaska, about 10,000 square milesoft pasture covered with a luxuriant growth of the prodigious industry. So removed situations, where the grasses are too short for cuttinghay, they are nutritious and furnish splendid pasture. Several small herds of milch cows have been kept in some of the villages for years, and their fat and sieck condition and the amount of milk they give show the possibilities of a section of country which people usually consider worthless. White people who take good care of their stock feed them from flye to six months, and that may be considered necessary to keep the animais in good condition. "There is such great wealth of grass that I believe that section will ultimately become a great dairy country."

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson is not so confidence of the substantial to the substa small animals, relatively to their size, build on a colossal scale compared to man; even our most exceptional monuments cannot be placed beaid their ordinary buildings. The domes of triturated and plastered clay which cover their nests may rise to a height of five meters; that is to say, to dimensions equal to 1,000 times the length of the workers. The Elifet tower, the most elevated monument of which human industry can boast, is only 187 times the average height of the worker. It is 300 meters high, but to equal the Termittes' andacity, it would have to attain a height of 1,600 meters.
